Cover image: Composite of the figures from "The Visual Art of HIV/AIDS: An Interdisciplinary Approach to Teaching About HIV/AIDS" by McDonald and Wessner. Credits for individual works of art are found in the article starting on page 15 of this issue.

Articles:

Studio vs Interactive Lecture Demonstration -- Effects on Student Learning
Harry Roy

Modeling the Process of Science: Investigating Sexual Dimorphism in Crayfish
Dennos M. Mullen, Michael L. Rutledge & Sarah H. Swain

The Visual Art of HIV/AIDS: An Interdisciplinary Approach to Teaching About HIV/AIDS
Anna G. McDonald & David R. Wessner

Web-Based, Active Learning Experiences for Biology Students
Kerri M. Skinner and W. Wyatt Hoback

News & Views:

Editorial Information

ACUBE 47th Annual Meeting Announcement

Call for Applications - John Carlock Award

ACUBE 2003 -- Call for Abstracts

Advertisement -- Bioquest

Call for Reviewers

Call for Nomination - Honorary Life Award

Manuscript Guidelines for Bioscene: Journal of College Science Teaching

Rear View Mirror - Looking Back -- Edward Kos

Call for Resolutions

Call for Nomination - Bioscene Editorial Board

Presidential Address: A Retrospective -- Malcolm P. Levin

ACUBE on the Web

ACUBE Steering Committee Minutes Fall 2002

Honorary Life Member 2002 -- Norm Jensen

Call for Applications - John Carlock Award

ACUBE 47th Annual Meeting Announcement

Housing Preview -- 47th Annual Meeting

Truman State University -- Site of the 47th Annual ACUBE Meeting

Membership Application